LEGACY THAT LIVES ON

A TRIBUTE TO

LATE SH. MAHIPAL BUDHRAJA JI

Some lives are not measured by the years they span, but by the light they leave behind. Late Sh. Mahipal Budhraja Ji was one such soul—a visionary whose quiet resolve and steadfast belief in education continue to guide the journey of MDPS.

He believed that education was not merely the transmission of knowledge, but an awakening of the human spirit. From this belief emerged a humble beginning—four rooms, forty children, and a dream vast enough to embrace an entire community. What gave strength to this beginning was not material abundance, but moral purpose: the conviction that no child should be denied education due to poverty, and that meaningful work should uplift every individual associated with the institution.

With time, that seed grew into a living legacy. Today, MDPS stands as a testament to the power of vision rooted in compassion, educating nearly 3000 students each year. Like a deeply rooted tree, the institution continues to shelter young minds, offering them direction, dignity, and hope. Every corridor echoes the values he stood for—simplicity, service, and social responsibility.

In his absence, there is a silence that speaks—a silence filled with gratitude, reflection, and resolve. Though our hearts carry a sense of loss, they are also comforted by the assurance that his ideals remain woven into the fabric of this institution. His presence endures not in form, but in spirit—in every act of kindness, in every opportunity extended to the underprivileged, and in every child encouraged to dream beyond limitations.

As an institution, MDPS does not merely remember its founder—we walk the path he showed us. His dream of a society enlightened by education and nourished by compassion remains our guiding force.

In quiet gratitude and deep reverence, we honor a life that transformed countless lives. Some legacies do not fade with time—they become the light by which generations find their way.

"The niche he carved in the hearts and lives of all associated with MDPS will remain etched forever." In quiet gratitude and fond memory of our guiding light."

“Every activity is a step in learning, and every smile tells a story of growth.”

The foundational years of a child’s life are the most precious and powerful. These early moments are not just about learning letters and numbers — they are about nurturing curiosity, building confidence, and instilling a lifelong love for learning.

At the Foundational Stage, we believe that every child is unique, full of wonder, and capable of extraordinary growth. Through joyful activities, creative exploration, storytelling, music, movement, and play-based learning, we create a safe and stimulating environment where young minds can flourish. Each smile, each question asked, and each small achievement marks the beginning of a beautiful journey.

This year has been a celebration of curiosity, imagination, and resilience. Our little learners have shown tremendous enthusiasm in discovering new ideas, forming friendships, and expressing themselves with confidence. Their laughter fills our classrooms with energy and reminds us daily of the magic of childhood.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to our dedicated teachers and supportive parents who work hand in hand to shape these formative years with patience, care, and commitment. Together, we are laying strong foundations — not only for academic success but for kindness, creativity, and character.

As we turn the pages of this Annual Magazine, let us cherish the beautiful memories created and look forward to many more milestones ahead.
With warm wishes for continued growth and joyful learning

VOICE OF THE STUDENTS EDITORIAL MEMBERS

Greetings to everyone.
I'm a proud divinian and also a part of the senior editorial board has been a total whirlwind, but in the best way possible. It wasn't just about cutting chart paper and pasting it in an aesthetically pleasing way ,it was about being the "voice" of our grade. I spent my year chasing down deadlines, brainstorming themes that wouldn't bore people, and trying to make sure everyone's story felt heard.
The real challenge was the balancing act, juggling my own heavy course load while making sure our affinity looked splendid. I learned that being council member is half leadership and half diplomacy, especially when giving feedback to friends. It was incredibly rewarding to see my peers actually reading and discussing what we produced. This role taught me that a school grounds aren't just brick and mortar it's our shared history in the making.

CAPTAIN'S CHRONICLES: STEERING THE TEAM TO VICTORY

"Goodbyes That Stays Forever"
" Baad Mai Ye Hi Din Toh Yaad Ayengye"

As we stand at the threshold of new beginnings, it's impossible not to look back at the journey that brought us here. From the days when our school bags were bigger than us and crayons felt like treasures, to the confident young adults we are today, this school has been more than just classrooms and corridors—it has been our second home.

We learned our first alphabets here, stumbled through math tables, shared our tiffins, and slowly discovered who we were meant to be. Each stage—primary, middle, and high school—was a chapter filled with challenges, friendships, and countless memories that shaped us. Together, we laughed, we worried before exams, we cheated in exam, we cheered for each other, and we grew side by side.

For me, being the sports captain was one of the most defining experiences. Leading our classmates onto the field, celebrating victories, and learning from defeats taught me lessons that went far beyond the scoreboard. Teamwork, discipline, resilience—these weren't just words, they became lived experiences. The cheers, the spirit, and the unity we felt in those moments will forever echo in my heart.

We may walk out of these gates as individuals, but we will always remain connected by the stories we created here. And when we'll look back years from now, we'll smile knowing that these were the days that shaped us, the days that will forever live in our hearts…..THIS FRIENDSHIP AND MEMORIES IS STILL WEAVING….

VOICE OF THE COUNCIL

I am Aarav Singh, Head Boy of the Middle Wing. The designation I proudly carry with my name is not that easy to achieve. From the step of filling up the form to the step of holding the position, it was full of hope, excitement, nervousness, and butterflies in my stomach. To be honest, I didn't think that one day I would be holding this position. When I got the form, I thought maybe I could be on other positions. In my head, I was not expecting that I would become Head Boy, but my teachers and my parents motivated me. They said, "Nothing is impossible; even the word impossible itself says I'm possible."

They all boosted my confidence and made me believe that yes, I am capable and I should give my best. When the interview rounds were held, I felt a bit nervous, but all I kept in my mind was just to be myself and confident. With all hope, I gave the interviews, and finally, when I got to know that my hard work had paid off, I was on cloud nine. I am glad that today everyone recognises me as Head Boy, and I am committed to discharging my duties with responsibility.

INTEGRITY: THE DIVINIAN WAY

When no one sees, I still stand tall,
For truth is stronger than a fall.
I choose the path that's hard but right,
Not tempted by the easy flight.

No borrowed words, no copied ways,
A Divinian walks with honest days.
My marks may rise, my marks may fall,
But character stands above them all.

From Mother Divine I've learnt this art–
To keep truth alive within my heart.
With courage firm and purpose clear,
Integrity is what I wear.

LITTLE HANDS GROWING SEEDS OF WISDOM

MINI KITCHEN GARDEN

In my school's little corner, green
and bright,
My mini garden smiles with pure delight.
Tiny seeds grow tall with sun and care,
Leaves dance softly in the morning air.
I water, watch, and learn each day,
How plants grow strong in nature's way.
My mini garden teaches me
to see—
Love, patience, and responsibility.

The Mini Kitchen Garden at our school is a green initiative that promotes sustainability and environmental awareness.
It reflects the school's commitment to nurturing eco-friendly values and encouraging respect for nature and healthy living.

When I go to the kitchen garden, I feel very happy. I planted a small seed and now it is growing. My teacher told me plants give us vegetables and fresh air. I will always take care of plants.

I enjoy working in the kitchen garden with my friends. We dig the soil, put seeds, and give water together. I wait every day to see my plant grow bigger. My teacher says plants are living things, so we should care for them. I feel happy when I help my plant grow and stay healthy.

RISING WITH STRENGTH

Strength is not just in muscle or might,
It lives in standing up for what is right.
In trying again when we fall and fail,
In holding hope when courage feels pale.

As Divinians, we learn each day,
From Mother Divine, the guiding way–
To be brave in heart, in word, in deed,
To rise above every doubt and need.

For true strength grows from a truthful mind,
From helping hands and a soul that's kind.
With faith in ourselves and values tight,
We walk in strength, in truth, in light.

Quality Circle Time is one of the most interesting and engaging periods in our school. In QCT, we sit in a circle with our teacher, which makes the class feel friendly and comfortable. We learn five important communication skills – speaking, thinking, listening, looking, and concentrating. These skills help us express our thoughts clearly and stay focused. Every week, our teachers chooses thoughtful topics like role models, real-life situations, and values. She asks us thoughtful questions and encourages everyone to share their ideas. In QCT, the teacher becomes more like a friend than just a teacher. In between the session, fun energisers are added to make learning fun and enjoyable. Quality Circle Time is a special part of our school day that helps us grow as individuals and as a group. By sitting together in a circle, we move away from the usual classroom setup and create a friendly space where everyone feels equal and included. We talk about important life topics that help us understand our feelings and learn how to get along with others. A very important part of this subject is when our teacher joins the conversation. Instead of just giving a lesson, she shares her own real-life stories and experiences with us. She acts as a mentor and helps us realise that everyone faces challenges. These honest discussions give me much more confidence to speak my mind and share my ideas without fear. By listening to my classmates and my teacher, I am learn how to be more kind and thoughtful, which makes our entire school community feel much stronger and more united.

We also get to visit the robotics lab, which makes learning more practical and interesting. She not only shows us the models but also teaches us how to build them step by step. Robotics helps us understand technology in a fun and creative way. We also learn about new topics like Artificial Intelligence and chatbots. This makes us curious about the future of science and innovation. Every robotics period is full of learning and excitement. MESSAGES FROM OUTGOING CLASS...

From Pre-Primary to Farewell

Mother Divine Public School is not just a school for me, it is a place where my life slowly took shape. Being a part of the outgoing class makes this journey even more meaningful and emotional. I have been in this school since pre-primary, so I did not just study here, I grew up here. This school has seen me learn my first letters, make my first friends, face my first failures, and achieve my first successes. Over the years, our school has changed a lot. The structure looks different now, and many things are not the same as before . Still, my heart is deeply connected to the old school building. The old classrooms, simple corridors, and familiar corners hold memories that can never be replaced as they carry my laughter, my friendships, my nervous exam days, and countless moments of childhood. My love for Mother Divine Public School has only grown stronger. Every morning assembly, every classroom lesson, every school event, and every small scolding or appreciation taught me something important. Mother Divine Public School gave me more than books and exams; it gave me confidence, discipline, values, and courage to face the outside world. The teachers here were not just teachers but guides and mentors who always believed in us, corrected us with care, and supported us at every step. This school also taught me the real meaning of friendship. I learned how to stand by people, how to laugh together, how to grow together, and sometimes how to accept change. These friendships turned into memories that I will always carry in my heart. Being a Class 12 student the outgoing class feels like closing a beautiful chapter. Saying goodbye is not easy, but I feel proud and grateful. Mother Divine Public School has given me a strong foundation, unforgettable memories, and life lessons that go beyond academics. No matter where life takes me, this school will always remain a part of who I am. I will always be thankful to call myself a student of Mother Divine Public School. I entered this school as a child, and I leave it today carrying memories that will stay with me forever

MESSAGES FROM OUTGOING CLASS...

"From Labs to Ledgers: STEM and Commerce Face-Off"

As a Class XII student preparing for my Board Exams, I often find myself reflecting on the choice between STEM and Commerce, two streams that seem to define the future paths of most of my peers. STEM, with its laboratories, equations, and innovations, appeals to those who thrive on logic, experiments, and the dream of becoming doctors, engineers, or scientists, while Commerce, with its ledgers, markets, and strategies, attracts . both streams demand hard work and dedication, whether it's solving complex derivations or balancing sheets, and both open doors to rewarding careers if pursued with passion. Standing at this crossroads, I realize the real dilemma isn't about which stream is superior but about which aligns with our strengths and ambitions, because success isn't determined by whether we wear lab coats or sit in boardrooms, but by the commitment we bring to our chosen path.

Let's be practical - success is what everyone wants. But what's success, actually? Is it scoring 95% in boards or getting a high-paying job? It can be for many, but for me, it's doing what you love and making bank from it !. But honestly, marks aren't everything - this has been told to me by my elder brother Ansh. He told me to gain knowledge and do what I want to do sincerely. I'm fortunate to have him as my adviser.

So, yeah, marks are cool, but they're not everything. It's about doing what you love and making it work. That's real success.

Where Warmth Once Lived

Like the warmest corner
on a freezing night
a quiet hearth
that once burned without asking,
now gone.
No one misses the fire,
But I still sit
where the warmth used to be.
Now, the air is colder.
The chair sits untouched,
dust gathering where warmth once was.
The flame is out.
Not with a storm,
but with silence.
And even the walls
seem to miss
what they can no longer name.

सफलता की धुन

सपनों की राह पर चलो धीरज से,
हर कदम में बुनो उम्मीदों का संगीत।
सफलता का सूरज उगे जब हौसला,
तब दिल में गूँजे यही स्वर-रचित गीत।

जज़्बा है तो हर बंधन टूटेगा,
सपनों की उड़ान में पंख लगेंगे।
आँखों में चमक, दिल में शान्ति,
यही है जीवन, यही है मेरा गान।

मेहनत की धूप, पसीने की बूँद,
हर चुनौती में मिले नई धुन।
रुकना नहीं, थमना नहीं,
सफलता की धुन पर नाचते रहो।

सफलता तुम्हारी कदमों की संगिनी,
स्वर-रचित रहे हर एक कहानी।
बजते रहें जीत के शोर,
तुम्हें मिले हर एक सोने का सवेरा।

One Step

The mountain's high, the road is long,
The nights feel cold, the days go wrong.
But every step you choose to take,
Builds the path you're meant to make.
So fall, then rise — but never stop,
You're getting closer with each drop.

BECOMING ME

I'm not exactly who I used to be,
Each day adds a little more to me.
Some changes loud, some hard to see,
But they all shape who I'm meant to be.

I've made mistakes, I've had my doubt,
Sometimes I whisper when I want to shout.
But I've learned that even in quiet ways,
I grow a little more each day.

Not every day feels bright or clear,
And yes, I've carried some fear.
But I've also found that strength can show
In letting go, or just saying "no."

I don't need to have it all figured out,
It's okay to wonder, to question, to doubt.
Because this isn't about being the best—
It's about being real, and doing my best.

So here I am, a work in progress,
Not perfect, but honest, and learning no less.
And with every step, I slowly see,
I am not just changing—
I'm becoming me.

WINTER'S GENTLE DREAM

Soft white whisper, a hush in the air,
Moonlight dancing with frost-lit hair.
Silent footsteps on snowy ground,
In winter's arms, I am safely bound.
Golden glow in the midnight deep,
Stars above watch as dreams take leap.
A melody lingers, warm and bright,
Like winter bear in peaceful light.
Frozen branches hum a tune,
Echoes drifting past the moon.
A quite longing, soft and true,
Winter sings it's song for you.

Its colours tell a tale so true,
Of sacrifice old, and visions new.

UNBROKEN

She doesn't bend to fit the mold,
Her spirit fierce, her heart untold.
She's a rebel, wild and free,
A force of nature, meant to be.
With every step, she claims her ground,
Her voice a whisper, then a sound.
She rises strong, she rises tall,
Unbroken, with a spirit that enthrals.
She's not a shadow, she's the light,
A beacon in the dark of night.
She's a warrior, with a heart of gold,
A leader, with a story to be told.
She doesn't ask for permission to be,
She is the permission, wild and free.
Her strength is not in her physical might,
But in her courage, her heart, her light.
She's a woman, with a dream to chase,
A visionary, with a spirit that won't pace.
She's unbroken, with a will of steel,
A force to reckon with, a story to reveal.

THE QUIET PATH OF EXCELLENCE

Excellence is not a fleeting flame,

But steady effort, day after day the same.

It grows in silence, where discipline is sown,

A mark of character, quietly shown.

Excellence blooms where patience remains,

A timeless light that forever sustains.

MEMORIES

Memories, they are in plenty
Good and bad, bitter or sweet
Long lasting memories
They lie dormant in my mind, for ages
But they erupt, totally unexpected
As sudden as a volcano long dead
Causing turbulence in my mind
Becoming a mirror
Reflecting images of my past
Some are vague
Too weak to dig up
Some are fresh
As ripe as mangoes
In the summer
They pierce into me
Which I never felt before
They become radio for me
My memories are my dreams
They crumble with time
But their pierce remain
Suddenly present strike
I woke up from reverie
The memories treasured in my head
Again forgotten but not dead

A JOURNEY OF TRIUMPH AND INSPIRATION

Dear Diary,

Today was an unforgettable day, that I'll cherish forever. I won a Gold Medal in the Malaysian Maths Olympiad, an international competition I had given my best shot to about three months ago. As I reflect on this achievement, I'm reminded of the incredible journey that brought me here.

My story began in 6th class when my English teacher, with unwavering faith in me, chose me for a zonal poetry recitation competition. I was tasked with reciting 'Brook' by Alfred Lord Tennyson, a poem that seemed daunting at the time. But with her support and encouragement, I secured 3rd place in the zone and went on to win 1st prize at the district level.

This marked the beginning of a remarkable journey. In 7th class, I won 2nd place in an English Quiz at Aadharshila Vidyapeeth. In 8th class, I discovered my passion for music and won three consecutive 2nd prizes in music competitions.

This year, in 9th class, I took on the challenge of the AIAMA Malaysian Maths Olympiad, an international grading exam that tested my speed and accuracy. With dedication and practice, I completed 50 questions in just 4 minutes and was thrilled to learn that I'd won 1st place and a Gold Medal.

I'm humbled and grateful for the unwavering support of my parents and teachers, who've been my pillars of strength throughout this journey. Their belief in me has instilled confidence and motivated me to push beyond my limits.

As I stand here today, I attribute my success to their guidance and encouragement. I'm thankful to God for blessing me with such wonderful parents and teachers.

सफलता की पहली सीढ़ी

जीवन में सफलता हर व्यक्ति चाहता है, लेकिन सफलता का रास्ता असफलताओं से होकर ही गुजरता है। असफलता हमें कमजोर नहीं बनाती, बल्कि हमें सीखने और आगे बढ़ने की प्रेरणा देती है। जो व्यक्ति असफलता से घबराकर रुक जाता है, वह कभी अपने लक्ष्य तक नहीं पहुँच पाता।

महान वैज्ञानिक थॉमस अल्वा एडिसन ने बल्ब का आविष्कार करने से पहले हजारों बार असफलता का सामना किया था। जब उनसे पूछा गया कि उन्हें बार-बार असफल होने पर कैसा लगा, तो उन्होंने कहा कि उन्होंने असफलता नहीं पाई, बल्कि हजारों ऐसे तरीके खोजे जो काम नहीं करते थे। यही सोच उन्हें महान बनाती है।

असफलता हमें धैर्य, आत्मविश्वास और परिश्रम का महत्व सिखाती है। यह हमें हमारी कमियों को पहचानने और उन्हें सुधारने का अवसर देती है। यदि हम असफलता को सीख के रूप में स्वीकार करें, तो वही असफलता एक दिन हमारी सफलता का कारण बन जाती है।

अतः हमें कभी भी असफलता से डरना नहीं चाहिए। हमें हर गिरावट के बाद और अधिक दृढ़ संकल्प के साथ आगे बढ़ना चाहिए, क्योंकि अंततः वही व्यक्ति सफल होता है जो हार मानना नहीं जानता।

A VICTORY FOR MALDIVES AT THE UNESCO MUN COMMITTEE

In a display of diplomacy and a deep understanding of global issues, the Model United Nations (MUN) Club at VSPK International School recently hosted a stimulating session of the UNESCO committee—one that ended with a triumphant win for Shivansh Pokhriyal, seeking the verbal validation award, who brilliantly represented the island nation of Maldives. The session, centered around the theme "Preserving Cultural Heritage in the Face of Climate Change", brought together aspiring delegates from across the committee, each tasked with navigating the intricacies of international policy, negotiation, and cultural preservation. Representing the Maldives—a country uniquely vulnerable to rising sea levels and environmental degradation—I stood out for articulating the urgent need for global cooperation in safeguarding cultural identities that are at risk of being washed away by climate change. Throughout the session, I effectively merged national interests with broader global concerns. Citing real-world initiatives and data, they highlighted the Maldives' efforts to integrate cultural preservation into climate resilience strategies. From coastal community traditions to architectural heritage, their arguments underscored that losing cultural landmarks would not just be a national loss, but a loss for humanity. One of the most impactful moments of the committee came during a moderated caucus where I proposed a collaborative resolution aimed at mobilizing UNESCO resources for vulnerable island nations. Their resolution, co-sponsored by several other countries, gained wide support and was eventually passed with overwhelming consensus.

The MUN Club continues to foster such impactful experiences, nurturing future leaders and global citizens. As the club looks forward to future simulations and conferences, my success stands as a shining example of what dedication, preparation, and passion for international dialogue can achieve. I request numerous students to take part in this extravaganza, as it ensures that there is no social anxiety but only bold confidence.

BALANCING ACADEMICS AND MENTAL HEALTH

School life isn't just about grades—it's about surviving the pressure that comes with them. Between assignments, exams, projects, and expectations from parents and teachers, it sometimes feels like we're carrying the world on our shoulders. And honestly, most of us don't talk enough about how this affects our mental health.

We've all had those nights of staying up late to finish homework, the stress before exams, and the comparisons that make us doubt ourselves. But here's the truth: if our mind isn't okay, no amount of studying will help us perform at our best. That's why finding balance matters.

Some things that actually help? Setting small, realistic goals instead of trying to do everything at once. Taking breaks without feeling guilty. Sleeping enough (yes, even if it means putting the phone down). Playing a sport, listening to music, or just hanging out with friends can make a huge difference. And sometimes, talking to a teacher, a friend, or even writing in a journal helps more than we expect.

At the end of the day, academics are important, but so is our peace of mind. Marks will fade, but the way we take care of ourselves will stay with us forever. If we learn to balance both now, we're not just preparing for exams—we're preparing for life.

"CURIOSITY: THE FORGOTTEN KEY TO TRUE LEARNING"

Throughout our lifetime, we go through different stages, and one of them is school. While we may see perfect grades on report cards, true knowledge is becoming rare. This isn't because of differences in students' abilities—it's due to a lack of curiosity, the true essence of learning.

As technology progresses, students get distracted. Many simply do not care about what is around them, too engrossed in a screen. It's strange, because we expect the youth to take us forward, yet it seems like we are slowly moving backward in time.

So, to anyone reading this: pause and reflect. Redefine what knowledge means to you. Look around, and you will find a million things to explore. Take that first step—it will serve as the foundation of an erudite personality and embody the elegance of learning.

SUCCESS: MORE THAN JUST MARKS

Success is something almost everyone wants. We often hear people say, "I want success" or "I want to succeed in life." But have we ever truly thought about what real success is or what success actually looks like?
Is success becoming something just because our parents want us to? Is it walking on a path chosen by others? Throughout our lives, we are told to score full marks, crack competitive exams like NEET, and then we will be successful. However, I believe that marks alone cannot decide our future.
Instead of running blindly towards success, we should focus on achieving excellence. Excellence comes from doing something we truly enjoy. When we work hard at something we love, we naturally grow better at it, and success follows as a result. Choosing a profession only because it was chosen for us may give security, but it cannot give true happiness.
We should choose to do something we can spend hours on without feeling tired—something that makes us feel happy and fulfilled. When we are genuinely happy with what we are doing, it means we have achieved what we truly want. That, in my opinion, is real success. Success is not about fulfilling someone else's expectations.
It is about following your passion and creating your own dream. Follow your passion, not someone else's dream

FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is one of the most beautiful bonds in human life. It is a relationship built on trust, understanding, and mutual respect, where people support each other through both joys and challenges. True friends accept us as we are, without judgment, and inspire us to become better versions of ourselves.
A good friend is like a safe harbor in a storm – someone who listens without criticism, celebrates our successes, and stands by us in difficult times. Friendship is not measured by the length of time we have known someone, but by the depth of care and loyalty shared.
In today's fast-paced world, genuine friendships are rare and precious. They require effort, honesty, and empathy to grow. Spending quality time together, communicating openly, and being there in moments of need strengthen this bond.
Ultimately, friendship enriches our lives with joy, comfort, and a sense of belonging. It teaches us the values of kindness, forgiveness, and unconditional support, making life's journey more meaningful and fulfilling

Life is a journey

Life is a journey, but we treat it like a marathon. We keep running to achieve something, but always forget that we are humans. We get tired, but still we hustle.
In this game of life, we only get a single chance to experience everything.

We spread brotherhood, and principles of equality. We never give up, as we know what we want to be. Life is filled with twists and turns,and being a human we need to face it. Happiness, grief, anger, love, downfall, are just the starting; as we have to experience much more than everything.

Change is inevitable
No one can remain the same. Change is important, it is inevitable. A seed turns to a plant to survive. Infants become adults to face the world. These changes seem to be small, but bear a deeper meaning. No one can escape the process of change. Something changes gradually, but it's impact is sudden. We need to accept them, so that we can face any situation.

EXAM PRESSURE

Exam pressure is something that every student faces at some point in their life. It's that heavy feeling in your chest and the constant fear of failure. Exam pressure is not a sign of weakness, it's the sign that you care about your future. It's natural to feel stress during exam time, but it does not mean that the pressure breaks your confidence. You are not alone in this journey. Every topper, every achiever, every success story has faced this pressure. What makes them stand out is not that they feel fear, but they never give up. They show up every day, study through the struggle and believe in their efforts. Break your syllabus into small manageable goals. Do not compare your progress with others. Remember your journey is unique. Focus on your progress , not perfection.

MOTIVATION: THE KEY TO ACADEMIC SUCCESS

"We should not give up and we should not allow the problem to defeat us."
– Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam

Motivation is the key to academic success. It is often defined as a need or drive that energizes behavior towards a goal. Every year, the most common problem teachers and parents face is a lack of student motivation. Motivation can come from within a student (intrinsic) or from outside (extrinsic).
An intrinsically motivated student performs a task because of the joy that comes from learning new things. A student who is externally motivated performs a task for rewards. While research shows that students with external motivation may achieve greater success, teachers and parents often find that many students rely on external motivation. Motivation depends on the task, the people involved, and the situation. The key for every student is to find what truly motivates them.

Factors That Reduce Motivation.Several factors can lessen a student's motivation:

1. Fear of failure
2. Lack of challenge
3. Lack of meaning
4. Emotional problems
5. Anger
6. Desire for attention

Students should try to avoid these factors and keep themselves motivated. Teachers and parents can also help students stay motivated by providing encouragement and support. Strong motivation can help a student build a successful academic career.

The World Through My Sketchbook

Sketching is not just a hobby for me; it is the way I express my thoughts, emotions, and imagination. Whenever I hold a pencil and look at a blank page, it feels like entering a new world where ideas flow freely and creativity has no limits.

I love to sketch nature, human expressions, and imaginative characters. Every line I draw tells a story—sometimes inspired by what I see around me, and sometimes by what I feel inside. Sketching helps me observe things more closely, notice small details, and understand the beauty hidden in everyday life.

Art also teaches me patience and focus. A single sketch takes time, practice, and dedication, but the satisfaction of completing it is truly rewarding. Through sketching, I have learned that mistakes are part of learning and that improvement comes with consistent effort.

I believe art is a powerful medium that allows us to communicate without words. I hope to continue improving my skills and use my sketches to inspire others to see the world with creativity and curiosity.

L'importance de l'éducation dans la société

L'éducation est l'un des piliers fondamentaux du développement humain et social. Elle ne se limite pas à l'acquisition de connaissances scolaires, mais englobe également la formation des valeurs, des compétences et de l'esprit critique.

1. Un droit universel

Chaque individu, quel que soit son origine ou son statut social, a droit à une éducation de qualité. Ce droit est reconnu par de nombreuses conventions internationales, car l'éducation constitue la base de la liberté et de l'égalité.

2. Un moteur de développement

Les sociétés qui investissent dans l'éducation voient une amélioration significative de leur croissance économique et de leur stabilité politique. Les citoyens instruits participent activement à la vie démocratique et contribuent à l'innovation.

3. L'éducation et l'épanouissement personnel

Au-delà des aspects économiques, l'éducation permet à chacun de découvrir ses talents, de développer sa créativité et de renforcer sa confiance en soi. Elle ouvre la porte à de nouvelles opportunités et favorise la mobilité sociale.

4. Les défis contemporains

Malgré les progrès réalisés, de nombreux défis persistent : inégalités d'accès, manque de ressources, ou encore adaptation aux nouvelles technologies. Il est essentiel de repenser les systèmes éducatifs pour répondre aux besoins du XXIe siècle.

L'IMPORTANCE D'APPRENDRE LA TROISIÈME LANGUE

Au cours des études, de nombreux élèves découvrent une troisième langue. Par exemple, le français, l'allemand, l'espagnol, etc. Mais vous êtes-vous déjà demandé pourquoi l'introduction d'une troisième langue est importante ? Ou pourquoi est-elle introduite tôt? Eh bien, la réponse est très raisonnable. Cela s'explique par le fait que l'introduction d'une troisième langue donne lieu à la portée des opportunités pour l'étudiant. Les élèves sont également contraints d'apprendre la troisième langue car cela renforce leur maîtrise de cette langue avec une régularité. Apprendre une troisième langue aide à communiquer à L'étranger et offre également de nombreuses opportunités dans le monde des affaires. Cela nous aide aussi à élargir nos connaissances et à apprendre de nouvelles choses. Apprendre une nouvelle langue améliore votre éligibilité ainsi que vos qualifications. Avec les technologies en développement, connaître une langue étrangère sera très bénéfique à l'avenir. Un facteur clé majeur est la communication. Si nous voyageons à l'étranger, apprendre la langue sera extrêmement efficace tant pour les affaires que pour les voyages. C'est pourquoi apprendre une troisième langue est à la fois important et bénéfique. Nous pouvons L'apprendre à travers une série de livres, des applications en ligne, et bien d'autres choses.

MÉMOIRE ET CONCENTRATION CHEZ LES ÉLÈVES

La mémoire et la concentration jouent un rôle essentiel dans la réussite scolaire des élèves. Sans une bonne capacité de concentration, il devient difficile de comprendre les leçons et de retenir les informations importantes. La mémoire permet de stocker ces informations et de les utiliser au moment des examens ou dans la vie quotidienne.

Aujourd'hui, de nombreux élèves ont des difficultés à se concentrer en classe. L'utilisation excessive des téléphones portables, le manque de sommeil et le stress lié aux examens sont quelques causes principales de ce problème. Une mauvaise alimentation et l'absence d'activités physiques peuvent également affecter la mémoire.

Pour améliorer la mémoire et la concentration, il est important d'adopter de bonnes habitudes. Dormir suffisamment, manger équilibré et faire de l'exercice régulièrement sont essentiels. En classe, prendre des notes, poser des questions et réviser régulièrement aident beaucoup. Des techniques comme la lecture à voix haute, les pauses courtes et la méditation peuvent aussi être efficaces.

En conclusion, une bonne mémoire et une bonne concentration sont indispensables pour l'apprentissage. .

Avec de la discipline et de bonnes méthodes, chaque élève peut améliorer ses capacités intellectuelles et réussir dans ses études

LIFE GOES ON

Sometimes we all need some time, Time to think and make a climb. To rethink, correct our choices, And listen closely to our voices. To live, to grow and move ahead, Leaving the past, as we are led. People come and people go, Like shooting stars with their bright glow. Just let them pass, and don't look back, For your journey's long, stay on track. Many stars may brightly shine, But the sun is the grandest and divine. Believe in yourself and keep the pace, Your dreams will lead you to a place. And when the past comes back around, Don't be distracted by the sound. Just keep moving, don't look back, For life goes on and you've got the track!

At Mother Divine, I laugh and play,
I learn new things each single day.
Friends and teachers, always near,
Make every moment bright and clear.
With books and games, my mind takes flight,
Every challenge feels just right.
I grow, I dream, I shine, I try,
Under the school's caring sky.

Through the Hard Days

MS.DRAUPADI

I have walked through days that asked more than I had,
carrying questions heavier
than my strength allowed.
Some nights were stitched with silence,
some mornings began with doubt,
yet I rose—quietly, stubbornly—
learning courage without a sound.
Hardship taught me patience,
pain taught me how to stand,
and every fall whispered softly:
you are stronger than you understand.
I am not shaped by easy victories,
but by storms I chose to face.
I move forward, scarred yet steady,
turning struggle into grace.

नजर का फ़र्क

नज़र-नज़र का फ़र्क है, हर नज़र एक जैसी ज़रूरी नहीं,
कहीं आँखें बोलती हैं, तो कहीं ख़ामोशी ही सही।
कोई रंगों में ढूँढता है अपनी ज़िंदगी के मायने,
तो कोई एक मुस्कान में कायनात पढ़ लेता है कहीं।
जिन्हें दुनिया "कमज़ोर" कहे, वो कमज़ोर नहीं होते, बस उनकी ऊँची उड़ान के आसमान अलग होते हैं।
वो छूते हैं इस ज़मीन को अपने ही एक निराले ढंग से,
जहाँ हमें दीवार दिखती है, वो वहीं से रास्ते खोलते हैं।
मैं उनकी "शिक्षक" हूँ—ये कहना तो बस एक नाम है, सच तो ये है कि उन्होंने मुझे 'इंसान' बनाया है।
उनके हर छोटे कदम ने मुझे एक बड़ा सबक़ दिया—
कि सब्र महज़ इंतज़ार नहीं, एक हुनर है जो उन्होंने जिया है।
उनकी जीतें छोटी नहीं, अब मेरी उम्मीदें बड़ी हैं, उनकी एक हँसी में मेरी दिन भर की थकान ढली है।
उनके साथ चलते हुए ये एहसास और गहरा गया—
कि मैं पढ़ा नहीं रही, मैं तो रोज़ एक 'दुआ' जी रही हूँ।
हाँ, ये बच्चे ख़ास हैं—अपने हुनर, अपनी तासीर में,
ये दुनिया सँवार देते हैं, अपनी बेबाक तस्वीर में।
मैं खुशनसीब हूँ कि मुझे उनकी दुनिया का हिस्सा मिला—
एक 'स्पेशल टीचर' नहीं, मुझे तो खुद से एक
'बेहतर इंसान' मिला।

Educating with Purpose: A Sustainable Initiative

MS.ADITI CHADHA

At Mother Divine Public School, we believe education goes beyond academics to building character and conscience. Guided by this vision, we have partnered with Go Sharpener, an organisation dedicated to promoting sustainability through innovative school programmes.

This collaboration empowers students to understand their environmental impact and adopt sustainable practices in daily life. Through interactive workshops, hands-on projects on waste management and recycling, and student-led green campaigns, learners are encouraged to take responsibility and lead positive change.

By turning sustainability into a lived experience, this initiative nurtures environmentally conscious, responsible, and confident learners—true global citizens ready to shape a greener future.

"सच्ची सीख मनुष्यता के लिए"

धरती पर अनगिनत जीव-जन्तु निवास करते हैं। जीवनयापन करने के लिए प्रत्येक प्राणी अपनी भौतिक आवश्यकताओं की पूर्ति के लिए कुछ न कुछ कर ही लेता है। परन्तु मनुष्य प्रज प्रजातियों से भिन्न है। ईश्वर ने मनुष्य को कुछ अलग ही विशेषताएँ दी हैं।मनुष्य को सोचने-समझने की शक्ति, भावनाएँ, जो उसे अन्य प्रजातियों से भिन्न बनाती है। मनुष्य अपनी इन्हीं विशेषताओं के कारण अन्य मनुष्यों के साथ मित्रतापूर्ण अथवा घृणात्मक संबंध बनाता है। वह अपनी इन विशेषताओं के आधार पर अपने जीवन के कार्यों को संपन्न करता है। इन विशेषताओं के अलावा भी व्यक्ति के पास गुण होते हैं, जो नकारात्मक होते हैं। ये व्यक्ति के शत्रु होते हैं। व्यक्ति के दो शत्रु-स्वार्थ और घृणा भावना हैं।यदि व्यक्ति इन्हें त्याग दे तो संसार में वह सर्वोपरि होगा। व्यक्ति को अपने जीवन को सार्थक की अधिक आवश्यकता है। आज के युग में व्यक्ति केवल स्वार्थ और घृणा भावना से परिपूर्ण हो गया है। यह मनुष्यता का नाशक है। अपना जीवनयापन करने के लिए तो पशु-पक्षी भी कुछ न कुछ कर ही लेते हैं। मनुष्य, जो कि अन्यों से भिन्न है, को ऐसे सफल प्रयास अवश्य करने चाहिए, जिससे कि किसी जरूरतमंद को लाभ हो और उसकी सहायता की जा सके। मनुष्य जीवन की वास्तविक सार्थकता इसी में निहित है कि वह अपने अंदर के स्वार्थ को त्यागकर, किसी न किसी रूप में जरूरतमंद व्यक्ति की सहायता कर सके। अन्यथा पशुओं की भाँति उसका जीवन भी नीरस ही है।

My GOLDEN JOURNEY IN MOTHER DIVINE SCHOOL

PROUD of my JOURNEY

When I joined the school on 16 April 1998, I could not have imagined that this institution would one day become such an inseparable part of my life. What was once an official responsibility soon transformed into a deeply personal journey of purpose and remembrance.

Standing at Rajpath as part of the Republic Day Programme – Nirmala Pathik filled my heart with pride and humility. It was more than a ceremonial moment –it was a living lesson in discipline, dedication, and love for the nation, values we continuously strive to instill in our students.

Accompanying students during the Commonwealth Games added yet another meaningful chapter to this journey. Learning moved beyond classrooms, and watching students grow in confidence and responsibility were preciousmoments.

Organising the Youth Parliament remains especially close to my heart. Seeing young minds speak fearlessly, reason thoughtfully, and uphold democratic values was deeply fulfilling. In those moments, I truly felt the purpose of an educator—guiding voices as they discovered their strength.

Our educational trip to Agra brought history, culture, and values alive. Among these, the annual trip to Mathura became a deeply rejuvenating experience, offering moments of spiritual calm and renewal amidst the routine of academic life. These journeys strengthened bonds, refreshed spirits, and created lifelong memories

As I look back, this golden journey is not measured merely in years, but in relationships nurtured, values strengthened, and lives touched. MAPS has been both my workplace and my teacher, and for this lasting relationship, I carry immense gratitude in my heart.

The Power of Persistence: Embracing Your Journey

Life at school is a series of climbs. Sometimes the path is a gentle slope where we feel fast and capable; other times, the incline feels steep, and our breath grows short. During those moments when a math problem seems unsolvable, a sports goal feels out of reach, or a personal ambition feels distant, the most important tool we carry is our resilience.

The Strength in "Not Yet".

When we face a challenge, it is easy to see a roadblock as a dead end. However, the most successful people in history view hurdles differently. They don't see a "failure"; they see a "lesson in progress." If you haven't mastered a skill today, it simply means you are in the middle of your story. Adding the word "yet" to the end of a sentence—"I don't understand this yet"—transforms a closed door into an open invitation to keep going.

Fueling the Forward Motion

Progress is rarely a straight line. It is a collection of small, steady steps. To maintain your momentum, consider these three pillars of a growth mindset:

Celebrate Small Wins: Every paragraph written and every practice attended is a victory. These small moments build the foundation for big achievements.

Embrace the Pivot: If one method isn't working, it's okay to try another. Resilience isn't about doing the same thing over and over; it's about having the creativity to find a new way to reach the same summit.

Seek Support: Strength isn't just about standing alone; it's about knowing when to reach out. Collaborative effort often turns a difficult task into a shared triumph.

Your Potential is Limitless

Every time you choose to stay the course, you are training your "tenacity muscle." This grit is what defines leaders, artists, and innovators. The world doesn't just need people who are talented; it needs people who are steadfast.

So, the next time the mountain looks too high, take a deep breath, look at how far you've already come, and take one more step. Your future self will thank you for the courage you showed today.

Keep shining, keep striving, and keep believing in the beauty of your own potential.

नन्हे दिलों से जुड़ी कहानी

जब इस स्कूल में पहली बार आई, तो सिर्फ क्लासरूम नहीं।
नन्हे दिलों की एक पूरी दुनिया मिली। किसी ने कहा, "गुड मॉर्निंग मैम"
तो किसी की मीठी अटक-अटकती बातें, किसी ने प्यार से पुकारा " सुगंधा मैम", तो किसी ने हँसकर कहा– "मेरी लॉन्ग हेयर वाली मैम"। पढ़ाया हो या न पढ़ाया हो,
मिली हो या बस रास्ते में मुस्कान बाँटी हो। हर बच्चा अपनेपन की एक कहानी बन गया।
कभी उनकी आँखों में भरोसा दिखा,
तो कभी मासूम सवालों में सच्चाई। और कब मैं उनके लिये,
एक छोटी-सी आदत बन गई। यह पता ही नहीं चला।
आज अगर कोई पूछे, तो बस इतना कहूँगी।
मैं सिर्फ एक टीचर नहीं रही, मैं उन बच्चों की हँसी की वजह,
उनकी यादों का एक हिस्सा,
और उनके दिल की धड़कन बन गई। यही रिश्ता है स्कूल से, यही रिश्ता है बच्चों से।।

LITTLE MINDS, BIG DREAMS

Every child who walks into a classroom carries a world of dreams within them. These dreams may be small today—becoming a doctor, a dancer, a teacher, or even a superhero —but they hold the power to grow into something extraordinary tomorrow.

Little minds are curious. They ask endless questions, imagine freely, and see possibilities where adults often see limits. As teachers, it is our responsibility to nurture this curiosity and guide it with care. A kind word, a patient explanation, or a moment of encouragement can leave a lasting impact on a child's confidence.

Not every child learns at the same pace or in the same way. Some express themselves through words, some through art, and others through actions. When we recognize and respect these differences, we help children believe in themselves. Confidence is the foundation on which big dreams are built.

Education is not only about academic success; it is about helping children discover who they are and what they can become. When little minds feel safe, valued, and inspired, they dare to dream big.
By believing in our students today, we help shape a brighter and stronger tomorrow—because little minds truly do hold the biggest dreams.

My Journey at Mother Divine Public School
Threads of Time and Teaching

"Teaching is not a profession; it is a lifelong relationship with learning and learners."

My journey at Mother Divine Public School spans two beautiful decades—twenty years years that have shaped my identity as an educator and enriched my soul as a human

The school has been more than an institution; what began as a place of work slowly turned into a space where my heart felt at home,where my growth, inner fulfilment and gratitude took root.

Teaching English was never limited to lessons and literature. It was about nurturing voices, easing fears, and lighting lamps of confidence. In those moments, I understood that language heals, empowers, and connects hearts.

"Words create worlds," and I was privileged to help my students create theirs.Their success became my silent celebration. A teacher's joy is quiet—it lives in the confidence of children.

Over the years, I was blessed with opportunities to serve in various roles—Head of the Department, Activities In-charge, English Club In-charge and House Coordinator.Each role was not merely a designation but a responsibility that allowed me to nurture creativity,confidence and leadership in our students.Some of my most cherished memories are not bound to classrooms alone but to stages, assemblies, competitions, club activities, and quiet conversations with students who needed guidance more than grades. Being associated with initiatives such as Student of the Year reaffirmed my belief that true education lies in recognising effort, character, values, and growth.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to the Management, whose faith and encouragement empowered me to explore and innovate.I feel blessed that I learnt profoundly under the guiding light of our esteemed Manager Late.Shri Mahipal Budhraja, whose vision, foresight, and commitment to holistic education have been the backbone of Mother Divine Public School.Though he is no longer with us, his values still walk beside us—quietly shaping our thoughts, our work, and our resolve.

My sincere thanks to our young charismatic Chairman Dr Manan Budhraja, who is carrying the cherished legacy forward with quiet determination,embracing changes while honouring the values. Through steady guidance and sincere commitment, he continues to inspire progress, proving that true leadership is defined not by age, but by purpose, wisdom, and the ability to uplift others.His support has strengthened my journey, and his trust has encouraged growth at every step.

I am equally thankful to our Academic Director, Mr. A. K. Bakshi, whose guidance, academic clarity, and constant support strengthened our professional journey and upheld high educational standards. His encouragement has been a constant source of motivation.

"Great institutions are built not just by walls, but by values and vision."

My sincere appreciation goes to my colleagues—companions in this long journey—Together, we created memories, upheld discipline, and worked as a team ,upholding the values that define Mother Divine Public School.

ARTICLES BY TEACHERS

And to my students—past and present—you have been my greatest teachers. Your curiosity kept me learning, your questions kept me thinking, and your achievements filled me with pride. Watching you grow into confident individuals has been the most rewarding aspect of my career.

As I now step into retirement, my heart is filled with gratitude and quiet fulfillment. I leave not with a sense of ending, but with a feeling of completion and contentment. The lessons, laughter, and love shared within these walls will always remain a part of me.

"You may retire from work, but never from purpose."

I walk forward carrying memories, values, and the honour of having served Mother Divine Public School with dedication and love. This journey will forever remain the most meaningful chapter of my life.

MS. SARITA GAUNIYAL

"From chalk and fear to creativity and cheer—teaching has truly evolved."

MS.SHACHI AWASTHI

Teaching Then and Now

Earlier, teaching was all about chalk, talk, and strict discipline—where silence meant learning and the blackboard was the smartest tool in the room. Today, teaching blends traditional values with modern methods, where smart boards, activities, discussions, and creativity take center stage. While earlier students feared questions, now they are encouraged to ask, explore, and express. The core aim remains the same—learning—but the journey has evolved from "sit straight and listen" to "think, participate, and enjoy learning."

"Education shapes the mind, but values shape the person."

Respect, Responsibility, and Resilience are timeless values that guide individuals at every stage of life. Respect teaches us to listen, to accept differences, and to treat others with kindness and dignity while maintaining self-respect in our thoughts and actions. Responsibility reminds us that our choices matter—it encourages honesty, commitment, and accountability in whatever role we play, whether at home, in school, or in society. Resilience gives us the inner strength to face challenges, adapt to change, and move forward even when situations do not go as planned. Together, these values help individuals grow with confidence and balance, enabling them to handle success with humility and difficulties with courage. Parents and educators play an important role by modelling these qualities through their behaviour, as young minds learn more from actions than words. In a world that is fast-paced and often demanding, respect, responsibility, and resilience act as strong anchors, shaping character and guiding decisions. When these values are practised daily, they prepare individuals not only to achieve goals, but also to lead meaningful, ethical, and compassionate lives.

शिक्षा

अमिता मदान

शिक्षा केवल पुस्तकों का ज्ञान नहीं, बल्कि जीवन को सही दिशा देने का माध्यम है। एक अध्यापक के रूप में मेरा विश्वास है कि शिक्षा का उद्देश्य बच्चों को केवल परीक्षा में सफल बनाना नहीं, बल्कि उन्हें संवेदनशील, जिम्मेदार और आत्मनिर्भर नागरिक बनाना है।

जब कोई विद्यार्थी प्रश्न करना सीखता है, गलतियों से सीखता है और सत्य व परिश्रम का मार्ग अपनाता है, तभी शिक्षा सार्थक होती है।

शिक्षा दीपक की लौ की तरह है–जो स्वयं जलकर दूसरों के जीवन को प्रकाशमान करती है और समाज को अज्ञानता के अंधकार से बाहर निकालती है।

स्वस्थ जीवनशैली

प्यारे बच्चों वर्तमान की आधुनिक दिनचर्या में यह आवश्यक है कि आप एक स्वस्थ दिनचर्या और जीवन शैली का पालन करें।स्वस्थ जीवनशैली के कई फायदे हैं। यह हमें ऊर्जा प्रदान करती है, हमारे मानसिक स्वास्थ्य को बेहतर बनाती है, और हमारे जीवन को दीर्घायु बनाती है। इसके अलावा, स्वस्थ जीवनशैली हमें तनाव और चिंता से भी बचाती है। यह हमारे आत्मविश्वास को बढ़ाती है, और हमें अपने लक्ष्यों को प्राप्त करने में मदद करती है।आज के व्यस्त जीवनचर्या में, स्वस्थ जीवनशैली अपनाना बहुत जरूरी है। यह हमें शारीरिक और मानसिक रूप से स्वस्थ रखती है, और हमारे जीवन को खुशहाल बनाती है। स्वस्थ जीवनशैली में संतुलित आहार, नियमित व्यायाम, और पर्याप्त नींद शामिल है। संतुलित आहार हमें आवश्यक पोषक तत्व प्रदान करता है, जो हमारे शरीर को स्वस्थ रखता है। नियमित व्यायाम हमारे शरीर को मजबूत बनाता है, और हमारे मानसिक स्वास्थ्य को भी बेहतर बनाता है। पर्याप्त नींद हमारे शरीर को आराम देती है, और हमें अगले दिन के लिए तैयार करती है।इसके लिए, हमें अपने दिनचर्या में कुछ बदलाव करने होंगे। जैसे कि, रोजाना व्यायाम करना, ताजे फल और सब्जियां खाना, और पर्याप्त नींद लेना। हमें अपने मानसिक स्वास्थ्य का भी ध्यान रखना होगा, और तनाव को कम करने के लिए योग का अभ्यास करना होगा।

आइए, हम सब यह प्रण करते हैं कि हम सब स्वस्थ जीवनशैली को अपने जीवन का हिस्सा बनाएँगेऔर एक खुशहाल जीवन जीएँगे।

सधन्यवाद

A Walk Down Memory Lane: Tanvi Sharma at MDPS

Looking back, my years at MDPS were some of the most formative and cherished chapters of my life. The school was not just a place of academic learning, but a space where curiosity was encouraged, confidence was built, and lifelong values were shaped.

From early mornings filled with assemblies and classrooms buzzing with ideas, to the encouragement of teachers who believed in pushing us to aim higher, MDPS instilled in me a strong sense of discipline, perseverance, and integrity. The school culture nurtured both academic excellence and personal growth, teaching me to balance ambition with humility and teamwork.

Beyond textbooks and examinations, MDPS gave me friendships, memories, and mentors who played a lasting role in shaping who I am today. The lessons I learned within its walls — to stay curious, to lead with purpose, and to never stop striving for excellence — continue to guide me in my personal and professional journey.

MDPS will always remain a place I proudly call my foundation, and I carry its values with me wherever I go.

Roots That Shaped My Journey

My Alma Mater,Mother Divine Public School, gave me far more than an education—it gave me the foundation to grow as a leader and, more importantly, as a good human being. The school opened up countless dimensions of my personality not only through academics, but also through debates, sports, assemblies, and rich extracurricular experiences, guided by knowledgeable and dedicated teachers who focused on every student's growth. I am especially grateful for the confidence my teachers showed in me—trusting my abilities, nurturing my strengths, and pushing me to become more competitive in debates, contests, and inter-school competitions. It was in such a supportive and inspiring environment that I was shaped into a "jack of all trades and master of some." Even today, my school days return to me in my dreams—where I see myself sitting in classrooms, running on the playground, playing and laughing with my school friends, and standing proudly in morning assemblies. Those memories remind me that school plays a powerful role in creating future leaders, and Mother Divine Public School has truly lived up to that responsibility. I remain forever grateful to my school and my teachers, because who I am today is deeply rooted in what they gave me back then.

From Classroom Lessons to Real-World Products

When I look back at my journey as a Senior Product Manager building financial products for a UK-based bank, I realise that the foundation of everything I do today was laid much earlier, right here at Mother Divine Public School.

MDPS was not just about textbooks, exams, or report cards. It was where I learned how to think clearly, ask questions, work with others, and take responsibility. The discipline of attending classes regularly, the confidence built through small achievements, and the encouragement from teachers played a much bigger role in my career than I understood at the time.

What stayed with me most was the emphasis on strong fundamentals, clear communication, logical thinking, curiosity, and integrity. These are the same skills I now use daily while designing financial products that serve millions of customers, making complex systems simple, and working with teams across countries and cultures.

Equally important were the values the school instilled: perseverance during tough times, respect for different viewpoints, and the belief that consistent effort eventually pays off. In a fast-moving professional world, these values continue to anchor my decisions.

As I build products that impact real people and real money, I often find myself going back to lessons that began in the classroom: listening before speaking, learning continuously, and staying humble no matter how far one goes. This echoes our schools moto too - Learn to live

I am deeply grateful for the foundation my school gave me. It didn't just prepare me for exams; it prepared me for life.

Growing Up, One Classroom at a Time

"True education is the quiet process of becoming—day by day, effort by effort."

Mother Divine Public School, my alma mater is not just a school where I studied; it is the precious place where I grew up. From my earliest school years to completing Class 12, every stage of my childhood and adolescence unfolded within the same corridors, classrooms, and assembly grounds. I learnt my first lessons of discipline here, found my voice through school activities, faced my earliest challenges, and slowly built the confidence to step into the world beyond the school gates. My experience at Mother Divine was shaped by everyday learning, preparing for examinations, standing on stage during assemblies and cultural programmes, learning to accept both appreciation and correction, and understanding the value of consistent effort.

"Effort repeated with sincerity becomes inner strength."

Teachers played a defining role in my journey. They recognised potential even when I doubted myself, guided me firmly yet compassionately, and taught lessons that extended far beyond textbooks. Their belief instilled confidence, self-respect, and the courage to take responsibility for my own growth.

"A teacher's faith often becomes a student's lifelong foundation."

Equally meaningful were the friendships formed along the way—on classroom benches, playgrounds, and during school events. These relationships taught me empathy, cooperation, and the importance of standing together through both successes and setbacks.

"Education is also learning how to walk alongside others while remaining true to oneself."

Challenges were an inseparable part of growing up—academic pressure, expectations, and moments of uncertainty. Yet, it was through these experiences that resilience was built and determination strengthened.

"Difficulties in youth become wisdom when faced with courage."

This reflection is my way of expressing heartfelt gratitude to Mother Divine Public School—a not only academic learning but values such as respect, responsibility, and belief in human p learnt here continue to guide my personal and professional journey.

"To remember one's place of learning is to honour the roots that continue to shape life."

Cherished moments of My alma mater

Whenever the word 'School' comes to my mind, a flood of emotions hits hard. My School days at Mother Divine Public School are not only about learning and playing, it's also about cherished moments filled with joy, classroom jokes, supportive teachers, lifetime friendships, all creating a foundation of growth and confidence.

The experiences gained in my Alma mater shaped me into a better individual. My school life is a wonderful chapter in my memories because I learned dedication, hard work, motivation and self-actualisation. Our reverent teachers were guiding lights who believed in me even before I believed in myself. Their patience, encouragement, and wisdom helped mould my thoughts and inspired me to strive for excellence. The best memory of my school life was the day when I won a prize in a debate competition. That was the day since when I started participating actively in co-curricular activities. From debates to dance competitions , I remained the constant participant and these activities shaped my personality very well. When I look back, I realise that my alma mater gave me more than education; it gave me direction. The foundation laid during those formative years remains strong, supporting me in every step of my journey. From Self-Doubt to Self-Belief: Teachers' Blessing Changed My Life

I still remember the boy I once was—quiet, hesitant, and unsure of his own voice. Classrooms felt intimidating, and confidence seemed like a quality meant for others, not me. What changed my journey was not a sudden miracle, but the steady faith and blessings of my teachers.

My teachers saw potential where I saw only limitations. A word of encouragement, a patient correction, a gentle push to step forward—these small acts became turning points in my life. They taught me that mistakes are not failures, but lessons, and that confidence grows when someone believes in you before you believe in yourself.

Today, as an alumnus of this institution, I stand transformed—not because I became fearless, but because my teachers taught me to rise despite fear. Whatever I have achieved carries their silent guidance and blessings within it. This school did not just educate me; it empowered me to discover who I could become.

I bow in gratitude to my teachers, whose blessings continue to guide my path. To every student who doubts themselves today—trust the process, trust your teachers, and most importantly, trust yourself.

I completed my Class 12th from Mother Divine Public School in 2013, and even today, when I look back, my school days remain some of the most cherished years of my life. School was not just a place of education for me; it was a space where curiosity was encouraged, friendships were built, and values were quietly instilled.The teachers were not just educators but mentors who shaped my thoughts and encouraged me to dream big. With patience and care, they guided us through our formative years, correcting our mistakes and celebrating our small achievements. Morning assemblies, school prayers, and shared laughter with friends created a bond that time can never erase.

I bow my head in gratitude to my school for nurturing my dreams and shaping my character. I will always carry its values in my heart with pride and thankfulness.

"The classrooms that shape us never truly leave us; they quietly guide every step we take thereafter."

Today, as I serve as an educator at Bal Bharati Public School, Pitampura, each moment in the classroom gently draws me back to the formative years that shaped my intellect, values, and sense of purpose. Much before I began nurturing young minds, these seeds were thoughtfully planted during my schooling at Mother Divine Public School.

Those years were far more than a chapter of academic pursuit; they were a phase of quiet yet profound transformation. They fostered discipline, self-assurance, and an enduring spirit of inquiry. I learned to engage with learning thoughtfully, to question with conviction, and to grow through cooperation and accountability—lessons that continue to echo meaningfully in my professional life.

What remains most vivid is the institution's steadfast emphasis on strong foundations—lucid expression, logical thought, intellectual curiosity, and unwavering integrity. These timeless principles now inform my identity as an educator, shaping the way I connect with students and craft learning experiences that extend well beyond textbooks.

Equally lasting were the values instilled with care and intention: resilience amid challenges, respect for diverse perspectives, and belief in the silent strength of consistent effort. In a world marked by constant change, these values continue to serve as my moral compass.

As I stand before my students today, I am reminded that teaching transcends the mere transmission of knowledge; it is the continuation of a legacy. In every lesson taught, every dialogue shared, and every moment of guidance offered, I draw strength from the foundation laid years ago.

For this invaluable grounding and its enduring influence, I remain deeply grateful—mindful that those early lessons continue to illuminate my journey, both as an educator and as an individual.

My Journey from Classroom to Career: Reflections of 14 years of Learning.

As I am pursuing my graduation at Swinburne University, Melbourne, I can't help but reminisce about my school days. It's been a journey of self-discovery, growth, and transformation. I was a shy kid, not too mixable with everyone, but I had a few close friends who made my school life memorable.

While growing up, I struggled to open up and speak for myself, eventually I learnt various values, resilience, and determination, and grew confident. "The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall" - Nelson Mandela. These words resonate with me, as I reflect on my journey.

I'm grateful to my parents, who gave me the best education and supported me every step of the way. My school, teachers, parents, and friends all played a significant role in shaping me into the person I am today. As I look back, I realize that "Education is the passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to those who prepare for it today" - Malcolm X.

My time in school was a mix of ups and downs, but it laid the foundation for my future. I'm thankful for the opportunities I've had and the lessons I've learned. As I pursue my graduation, I'm excited to see what the future holds.

"Believe you can and you're halfway there". These words of wisdom keep me motivated, and I'm confident that I'll make the most of my time in Melbourne.

Thank you, my alma mater for giving me wings to fly. I'm grateful for the experience and can't wait to see what the future holds.

BUILD NEW SKILLS

If there's one thing I want you to know, it's this: you don't need to fit a mold to succeed, however, you do need to build skills that make you useful.

Focus less on trying to impress people and more on learning how things actually work. Learn how to think clearly, communicate with intention, and solve problems without waiting for permission. Those skills will take you much further than grades alone.

You will make mistakes. You will feel behind at times. That's normal. What matters is that you stay curious, stay self-aware, and don't let fear make your decisions for you.Take your time. Build real capability. And don't be afraid to choose a path that actually fits you.

A Walk Down Memory Lane

Thirteen years-More than a number, it is a collection of memories, lessons, friendships, laughter, and growth. My school was never just classrooms and corridors—it was a space that shaped who I am today.

What truly defined these years were the teachers. Each one left behind more than academic lessons— they instilled discipline, values, curiosity, and confidence. They corrected me when I was wrong, encouraged me when I doubted myself, and believed in me long before I learned to believe in myself.

Among all the roles one will always remain closest to my heart— Head Boy. Wearing that badge was not just an honour; it was a responsibility. As I sit down to pen these words ,my heart is filled with a deep sense of nostalgia and gratitude. It has been over a decade since I passed my 12th standard in 2013, yet the echoes of my time at Mother Divine Public School remain as vibrant as ever.

Walking through the corridors of MDPS was never just about attending classes; it was about "learning to live". The school's four pillars—Divinity, Humanity, Excellence, and Integrity—were the invisible hands that shaped my character during my most formative years. I still remember the intensity and excitement of our exam preparations, where our teachers weren't just educators but anchors who steered us through every challenge with patience and care.

The memories of shared lunches,lots of talk competitions , exhibitions, activities that ignited our team spirit and the annual functions where we first discovered our confidence are treasures I carry with me today. My best part was the Marching on 15th August and on 26th January which I never forgot,these experiences have built my foundation which I'm today.

Currently I am in the UK and completed my MBA and thanks to the roots that were strong from starting which made that possible.

I still remember when I took admission at my school in UKG, the teacher took care of all the students to make us aware about shapes and blocks that have to be at the right place. Didn't know by that time that she is teaching us how to be persistent as water in real life.

Moving forward with class 6th-8th, the journey was quite smooth, it was just a cake walk thanks to the teachers who maintained discipline with a great way of teaching throughout the duration.

In the senior secondary phase, I opted for Commerce with Maths, which I must say was my best decision. With due respect,the teachers paved the way and made it not only smooth but gave us life lesson too ,which helped me in my journey later
